

David Lewis Bradley, AIA PCC

Architects, more than any other profession, are trained to create possibility where none currently exists...

Having experienced the challenges of running his own design firm, David Bradley, “The Architect’s Coach”, founded Blueprint For Living Coaching in 2014 with a mission to inspire architects and design professionals around the world to create lives well-lived from intention and purpose.

Using his customized Blueprint Project Design process, David’s clients

- start their own firms,
- achieve professional recognition,
- create powerful career transitions,
- explore their creative self-expression,
- grow their leadership and
- recapture a work/life balance that brings joy and celebration back into everything they do.

David combines more than 25 years of experience as a global architect, businessman and industry leader with world-class training as a certified professional coach. He has “walked the talk” as owner of his own design firm. He has stepped into leadership positions in the American Institute of Architects. He has worked with high-performing individuals, firms and groups across North America and including an engagement at the United Nations. In all of it, David brings a sense of wonder, passion and buoyant positive energy that draws out the best in those he meets and calls them forward to new horizons.